ARTHURIAN SITES IN THE WEST

C.A. Ralegh Radford and Michael J. Swanton

n.e. 2002 96pp. illustrated
paperback 978 0 85989 676 4 £9.99/US$18.95

A completely new revised and enlarged edition of this classic survey of monuments in South-West England associated with the stories of King Arthur and Knights of the Round Table: the castle of Tintagel, the great hill-fort of Cadbury in south Somerset, the ruined abbey at Glastonbury and Castle Dore in south Cornwall - the setting for one of the greatest European love-stories of all time, that of Tristan and Isolde. In each case the archaeological evidence is summarised and linked with relevant Arthurian literature. The book includes maps, plans, photographs and suggestions for further reading; it will be valuable to specialists as well as accessible to the general reader.

CIRCLED WITH STONE

Exeter's City Walls,
1485-1660

Mark Stoyle

2003 240pp.
Illustrated hardback
978 0 85989 727 3 £50.00/
US$95.00

Winner of the Devon Book of the Year Award 2003. Circled with Stone is the most comprehensive study to date of the fortifications of an early modern English city. The culmination of some twenty years of archaeological and documentary research, it provides a richly detailed portrait of the ancient system of walls, towers and gates which ringed the city of Exeter during the Tudor and early Stuart periods.

This book commemorates the work of Jack Trounson, one of the leading 20th century authorities on Cornish mining.

CORNISH STUDIES

edited by Philip Payton

ISSN 1352-271X

COMMENTS ON THE SERIES:

"The outcome and intention has been to place Cornwall squarely in new debates about the nature of "Britishness" and the territorial identities."
(Western Morning News)

"Cornish Studies is a real gem among the serial publications dedicated to regional studies, and this volume confirms once again its status as a significant contribution to the field of European ethnology and ethnography. Unafraid of crossing disciplinary boundaries and bringing into close contact academic fields that elsewhere may jealously guard their respective fiefdoms, this series presents European ethnology (in the sense the term was originally intended) at its best"

(Ulrich Kockel, Professor of Ethnology and Folk Life, Academy for Irish Cultural Heritages, University of Ulster)

Cornish Studies: One

1993 168pp.
paperback 978 0 85989 413 5 £14.99/US$29.95

In Cornish Studies: One a mix has been established which considers aspects of the Cornish experience, from late medieval reaction against the English state to the characteristics of the contemporary ethno-regional movement. Political history, housing, church music and the tourist industry each find a place, while for the first time a definitive survey is presented of the acarine fauna of the Scillies.

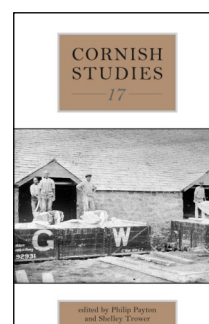

Cornish Studies: Two

1994 179pp.
paperback 978 0 85989 454 8 £14.99/US$29.95

Volume two of Cornish Studies covers a diverse set of topics, including Celtic tourism, the wildlife of Brittany and Cornwall, nineteenth-century Cornish on the North American mining frontier, the revival of Cornish writing skills in seventeenth-century West Cornwall and issues of territory and identity in contemporary Cornwall.

ENGLISH CHURCH DEDICATIONS

With a Survey of Cornwall and Devon

Nicholas Orme

1996 264pp.
paperback 978 0 85989 516 3
£15.99/US$29.95

Church dedications are as widely used as they are little studied, yet their histories are often obscure and complicated. Frequently forgotten after the Reformation, they were revived on the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries with many guesses and mistakes, resulting in numerous alterations. Church history cannot safely be based on the dedication in use today.

FACTION AND FAITH

Politics and Religion of the Cornish Gentry before the Civil War

Anne Duffin

1996 294pp. illustrated
hardback 978 0 85989 435 7 £47.50/US$90.00

The history of Cornwall in the first half of the seventeenth century is both dramatic and turbulent. In Faction and Faith, Anne Duffin draws upon extensive new source material, combining national documents and local family collections with a detailed analysis of churchwardens' accounts, borough records and over 350 wills. She challenges the established view that Cornwall was naturally royalist and presents a picture of a politically-aware and religiously-splintered society.

FROM DELIVERANCE TO DESTRUCTION

Rebellion and Civil War in an English City

Mark Stoyle

1996 248pp. illustrated
paperback 978 0 85989 478 4
£16.99/US$31.00

Exeter Studies in History

This is a study of the city of Exeter during the Great Civil War of 1642-46; it offers a lively, immediate account of how one English city slid, inexorably, into the chaos of civil war. The book shows how Exeter's inhabitants first began to dissent from each other over religious issues, then became divided into two warring camps, and finally, after three years of bitter conflict, witnessed much of the ancient city being destroyed about their ears.

THE GARDEN HISTORY OF DEVON

An Illustrated Guide to Sources

Todd Gray

1995 272pp. illustrated
paperback 978 0 85989 453 1 £16.99/US$33.95

A reference guide to historical sources for over 200 Devon gardens. It also provides an introduction for would-be garden historians on how to conduct garden research. The book is the result of an exploration of the archival resources of Devon's garden history; the objective being to provide signposts to research material for those interested in the development of Devon's gardens.

GENTRY LEADERS IN PEACE AND WAR

The Gentry Governors of Devon in the Early Seventeenth Century

Mary Wolfe

1997 320pp. illustrated
hardback 978 0 85989 513 2 £55.00/US$100.00

The great strength of the government of Devon in the early seventeenth century lay in the quality of its leaders. They ruled together in harmony, free from rivalries for supremacy, free from the influence of any powerful resident nobles and saved from religious conflicts by the pacific Bishop Hall.

THE GEOLOGY OF CORNWALL

edited by E.B. Selwood, E.M. Durrance, C.M. Bristow

1998 318pp. illustrated
paperback 978 0 85989 432 6 £17.99/US$35.00
hardback 978 0 85989 529 3 £55.00/US$100.00

Cornwall is renowned for the diversity and complexity of its geology. This geology, and its relation to the mineral wealth of the county, has been the subject of continuing investigation since the end of the seventeenth century. A literature of great historical interest exists, and this is analysed in The Geology of Cornwall alongside a wide-ranging review of the current position and assessments of the environmental consequences of rock and mineral exploitation.

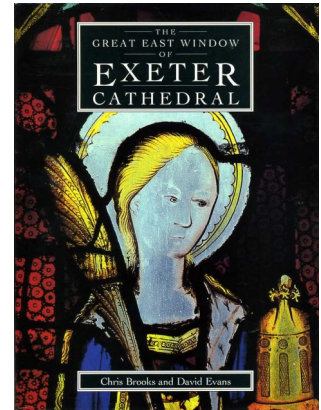

THE GREAT EAST WINDOW OF EXETER CATHEDRAL

A Glazing History

Chris Brooks and David Evans

1989 208pp. illustrated
hardback 978 0 85989 317 6 £75.00/US$135.00

Exeter glazing, and particularly the Great East Window, is of major importance. For the first time, this study establishes the correct dating, provenance and authorship of all the Great East Window's figure panels and most of its heraldic glass, and substantially rewrites the general history of the Cathedral's glazing.

HISTORICAL ATLAS OF SOUTH-WEST ENGLAND

edited by Roger Kain and William Ravenhill

cartography by Helen Jones

2000 576pp. illustrated
hardback 978 0 85989 434 0 £80.00/US$150.00

This is the first historical atlas of a major region of the United Kingdom. Its aim is to create and communicate the history of the south-western peninsula of England - Cornwall, Devon and the Isles of Scilly - from the beginnings of man's occupation to the present day. The cartographic message projected by around 400 maps is extended by a substantial text of about 250,000 words as well as diagrams, contemporary prints and photographs.

THE HISTORY OF HONITON LACE INDUSTRY

H.J. Yallop

1992 364pp. illustrated
paperback 978 0 85989 379 4 £25.00/US$47.95

Honiton lace is one of the world's great laces and this book tells for the first time the full story of the industry that produces it, from its beginnings in the sixteenth century to its demise in the twentieth. Over 100 photographs illustrate the history of design in Honiton lace as well as the technical aspects of manufacture.

THE JEWS OF SOUTH WEST ENGLAND

The Rise and Decline of their Medieval and Modern Communities

Bernard Susser

1993 383pp. illustrated hardback
978 0 85989 366 4 £55.00/US$100.00

The definitive study of the once-important Jewish communities of Devon and Cornwall, providing an in-depth analysis of the demography and economic activity as well as the political, cultural, religious and social life of South-Western Jewry.

JOHN BETJEMAN AND CORNWALL

"The Celebrated Cornish Nationalist"

Philip Payton

NEW!

2010 288pp illustrated paperback
978 0 85989 848 5 £16.99/US$30.00
hardback 978 0 85989 847 8 £55.00/US$95.00

This book provides a lively new account of the life of one of Britain's most loved poets, offering new insights into his work and his defining lifelong relationship with Cornwall.

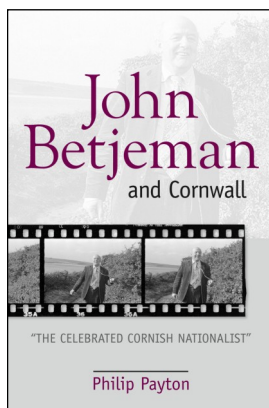

"It will appeal not only to those who love Betjeman's work, but also to all those who love Cornwall - whether as citizens or as devoted visitors. It brings great insight to both subjects, and of course to their interconnection."

(Jonathan Stedall, documentary film-maker and personal friend of John Betjeman)

MAKING A CHRISTIAN LANDSCAPE

The countryside in early-medieval Cornwall, Devon and Wessex

Sam Turner

2006 238pp. illustrated paperback
978 0 85989 785 3 £20.00/US$38.00
hardback 978 0 85989 7747 £55.00/US$100.00

Sam Turner's important new interpretation of early medieval patterns of landscape development traces landscape change in the South West from the introduction of Christianity to the Norman Conquest (AD c. 450-1070).

MAKING MOONTA

The invention of 'Australia's Little Cornwall'

Philip Payton

2007 284pp. illustrated paperback 978 0 85989 796 9 £17.50/US$32.50
hardback 978 0 85989 795 2 £47.50/US$89.95

This book is about Moonta and its special place in the Cornish transnational identity. Today Moonta is a small town on South Australia's northern Yorke Peninsula. Along with the neighbouring townships of Wallaroo and Kadina, it is an agricultural and heritage tourism centre. In the second half of the nineteenth century, however, Moonta was the focus of a major copper mining industry.

MAPS AND HISTORY IN SOUTH-WEST ENGLAND

edited by Katherine Barker and Roger Kain

1991 159pp. illustrated paperback 978 0 85989 373 2 £15.00/US$30.00
Exeter Studies in History

This volume of essays considers the practical and political purposes for which maps were used, the symbolic and ideological roles of maps in the history of South-Western England and the ways in which map evidence can be used to recover facts about the past for use in the writing of history. The text is accompanied by 43 pages of maps and illustrations.

THE MARITIME HISTORY OF CORNWALL

edited by Helen Doe, Alston Kennerley, Philip Payton

NEW!

2011 400pp. hardback 978 0 85989 714 3 £60.00/US$110.00

The first study of its kind, this book explains the rich, complex maritime inheritance of Cornwall and will be a significant addition to the literature of international maritime history. The book contains contributions from an international team of over 20 distinguished historians, including some of maritime history's leading scholars.

THE MARITIME HISTORY OF DEVON

M. Oppenheim

1968 202pp. illustrated hardback 978 0 85989 714 3 £35.00/US$69.95
Exeter Maritime Studies

Written in 1908 by Michael Oppenheim, the distinguished naval historian, for the Victorian History of Devonshire, this account has not been previously published as the volume for which it was intended was never completed. Based mainly on the national archives with which Oppenheim had an intimate acquaintance, this account emphasises the place of the county of Devon in naval history.

MINING IN A MEDIEVAL LANDSCAPE

The Royal Silver Mines of the Tamar Valley
Stephen Rippon, Peter Cloughton and Chris Smart

2009 224pp. illustrated paperback 978 0 85989 828 7 £20.00/ $36.00
hardback 978 0 85989 827 0 £60.00/ $110.00

Explores the late Medieval royal silver mines at Bere Ferrers in the Tamar Valley. The mines employed up to 400 men, mining on a scale and at depths not previously possible, and changed forever the way that mining was carried out in Medieval Britain.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS IN EARLY NINETEENTH-CENTURY CORNWALL

The World of Joseph Emidy - Slave, Violinist and Composer

Richard McGrady

1991 174pp. illustrated paperback 978 0 85989 359 6 £15.99/US$29.95

Taken from Africa into slavery by the Portuguese, kidnapped by the British Navy and held captive aboard ship during the French wars of the 1790s before being abandoned in Falmouth, the stranger-than-fiction story of Joseph Emidy deserves telling in its own right. What makes it more remarkable is that Emidy - a violinist and composer - became a prominent figure in the musical scene in Cornwall for the remaining thirty years of his life.

NEW DIRECTIONS IN CELTIC STUDIES

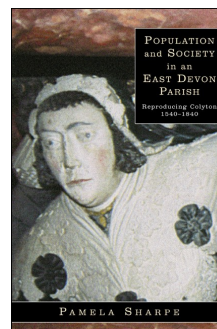

edited by Amy Hale and Philip Payton

2000 248pp. illustrated paperback 978 0 85989 587 3 £16.99/US$31.95
hardback 978 0 85989 622 1 £55.00/US$100.00

Written by international scholars and practitioners in fields such as folklore, ethnomusicology, art history, religious studies, tourism and education, the book brings together in one volume a wide range of perspectives. It responds to the recent questioning of the viability of the notion of 'Celticity' and the idea of Celtic Studies as a discipline and points to a renewed vitality in the subject.

POPULATION AND SOCIETY IN AN EAST DEVON PARISH

Reproducing Colyton 1540-1840
Pamela Sharpe

2002 300pp. illustrated hardback 978 0 85989 655 9
£55.00/US$97.00

This book is a vivid and refreshing consideration of everyday life in a town visited by plague, Civil War, religious radicalism and industrial changes. What really happened in the place once described as 'the most rebellious town in Devon'?

LANDSCAPE AND TOWNSCAPE IN THE SOUTH WEST

edited by Robert Higham

1989 142pp. illustrated paperback 978 0 85989 309 1 £14.99/US$28.95
Exeter Studies in History

This book examines recent views on the emerging settlement patterns of early medieval Britain and their relation to land use, drawing on both archaeological and documentary sources.

THE LETTERS OF SIR WALTER RALEGH

edited by Agnes Latham and Joyce Youings

1999 466pp. illustrated hardback 978 0 85989 527 9 £60.00/US$110.00

This edition of the letters of Sir Walter Raleigh will replace the long out-of-print edition of Edward Edwards published in 1868. It contains the full text in the original spelling but with modern punctuation of all known surviving letters. There are 240 letters in all compared with Edwards' 160, and have in most cases been taken from the original manuscripts, many never before published. All are extensively annotated, many have been newly dated and corrected; there is a substantial introduction by Joyce Youings.

THE LIBERAL PARTY IN SOUTH-WEST BRITAIN SINCE 1918

Political Decline, Dormancy and Rebirth

Garry Tregidga

2000 288pp. illustrated hardback 978 0 85989 679 5 £55.00/US$95.00

The decline of the Liberal party is one of the most controversial subjects in twentieth-century British politics, and this book makes a distinctive contribution to the debate by focusing on the South West, where Liberalism remained a powerful force after 1918.

LOYALTY AND LOCALITY

Popular Allegiance in Devon during the English Civil War

Mark Stoye

1994 346pp. illustrated paperback 978 0 85989 500 2 £15.99/US$31.95
hardback 978 0 85989 428 9 £55.00/US$100.00

This volume is a study of popular behaviour during the English Civil War and makes three claims. The first is that English counties did not behave as homogeneous units during the conflict of 1642-46, but that they divided instead along regional lines, certain areas supporting Parliament, others supporting the King. The second is that this general rule applied to cities too, and that in urban communities it is possible to discern both 'Royalist' and 'Parliamentarian' parishes. The third is that these internal divisions were not simply temporary alignments, but they reflected deep and enduring splits in local society, contrasting patterns of popular behaviour stretching back over very many years.

POWER AND POLITICS AT THE SEASIDE
The Development of Devon's Resorts in the Twentieth Century

Nigel J. Morgan and Annette Pritchard

2000 256pp. illustrated
hardback 978 0 85989 571 2 £60.00/US$110.00
Exeter Maritime Studies

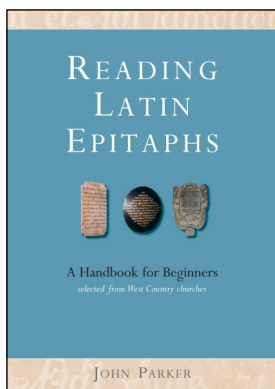

The seaside is the twentieth century's pre-eminent global tourism site and this is the first book of its kind to examine political and power relations in modern seaside resort development. As an historical study of seaside tourism in Devon - England's most popular domestic holiday destination - it reveals the complex interplay between ideology, class and power and the consumption of landscape and place.

READING LATIN EPITAPHS
A Handbook for Beginners
Selected from West Country Churches

John Parker

2008 140 pp.
paperback 978 1 905816 03 3 £9.99/US$20.00

This compact book reproduces fifty-two memorials in Latin taken from churches situated largely in the West Country. Each memorial is accompanied by a translation and by notes on the grammar. The book is aimed at all who would like to be able to read Latin epitaphs in churches, but whose knowledge of the language may be sketchy.

THE RISE OF THE DEVON SEASIDE RESORTS, 1750-1900

John Travis

1993 256pp. illustrated
hardback 978 0 85989 392 3 £60.00/US$110.00

The first comprehensive study of the emergence of Devon's seaside resorts. Relating the development of these resorts to the wider processes of social and economic change, it explains why early tourists were drawn to the remote Devon coast and shows how fishing villages were transformed into fashionable watering places.

ROMAN FINDS FROM EXETER

N. Holbrook and P. Bidwell

1991 333pp. illustrated
hardback 978 0 85989 367 1 £65.00/US$120.00
Exeter Archaeological Reports

Exeter, fortress of the Second Augustan Legion and subsequently the capital of the civitas Dumnoniorum, played an important part in the history of Roman Britain. This comprehensive study of finds from Exeter throws new light on the economy of south-west England and its foreign trade in Roman times.

SECURITY AND DEFENCE IN SOUTH-WEST ENGLAND BEFORE 1800

edited by Robert Higham

1987 108pp.
paperback 978 0 85989 209 4 £12.99/US$23.95
Exeter Studies in History

From Roman times down to the eighteenth century, the South West of England comprised a striking example of the importance of matters of security and defence to a local society easily threatened by external enemies and by internal conflicts and tensions. These studies provide a fascinating series of vignettes illustrating perennial and enduring problems in the history of the British Isles.

TOPOGRAPHICAL WRITERS IN SOUTH-WEST ENGLAND

TUCKERS HALL EXETER
The History of a Provincial City Company through Five Centuries

Joyce Youngs

1968 272pp. illustrated
hardback 978 0 90077 148 4 £55.00/US$100.00

Gilds and Companies of Craftsmen were a great feature of late medieval and early modern urban life. At Exeter, the Company of Weavers, Fullers (Tuckers) and Shearmen numbered nearly five hundred freemen during the reign of Queen Anne. Much reduced in size and changed, the Company still survives today and its Hall, built in 1471, is among the city's architectural treasures. The Company's records, together with those of the city of Exeter, have made it possible to tell the story of the progress of this body of men, and to place them in their social, economic and political context.

TUDOR AND STUART DEVONThe Common Estate and Government

edited by Todd Gray with Margery Rowe and Audrey Erskine

1992 208pp. illustrated
hardback 978 0 85989 384 8 £50.00/US$95.00

A collection of essays on the theme of Tudor and Stuart Devon. Subjects studied include Katherine Courtney, Countess of Devon; tinworking in four Devon stannaries; the legislative activities of local MPs during the reign of Elizabeth; landed society and the emergence of the country house; North Devon maritime enterprise; English wine imports, with special reference to the Devon ports - fishing and the commercial world of early Stuart Dartmouth; the clergy in Devon, 1641-1661.

UNITY AND VARIETYA History of the Church in Devon and Cornwall

The University of Exeter received its charter as recently as 1955 but its origins can be traced to educational movements that began in the middle of the nineteenth century. From beginnings in the School of Art founded in 1855, Brian Clapp records an unbroken line of development through the Royal Albert Memorial College and the University College of the South West.

WEST BRITONSCornish Identities and the Early Modern British State

West Britons provides a fresh interpretation of the bloodiest, most devastating years in Cornwall's history and a wholly new perspective on the history of the far South West of Britain. The book explores the unprecedented series of rebellions which took place in Cornwall between 1497 and 1648, traces the connections which existed between those revolts and the contemporary Cornish perception of themselves as a separate 'people', and argues that Cornish history must be viewed within a 'British', rather than a purely English context.

THE WEST COUNTRY AS A LITERARY INVENTION*Putting Fiction in its Place

Is the 'West Country' on the map or in the mind? Is it the south-west peninsula of Britain or a semi-mythical country offering a home for those in pursuit of the romance of wrecking, smuggling and a rural Golden Age?
